KeyMacro plugin has been designed to help you to make music 24 bass sounds are included in the package. You can play and control the plugin in VST, AU, AAX and Audio Unit formats. The plugin is located in the folder. I just finished getting it up and running on Windows 7 and OSX 10.7.5. It worked without a hitch so I'm assuming there is now some sort of bug in older versions. My results so far are: -- I have not been able to import any of the files in the AUI -- Wich isn't a big deal, they can just be added in manually-- The polyphonic portion of the plugin does not work-- I have made my own presets, and I have tested a few of the presets that come with the pack-- I used the presets in the AUI to convert them to AAX/VST and see if that changes anything but the AAX/VST presets also don't work with the AUI. - Now that is a doozy! I have made an example AUI file that shows how to get them working: NOTE: -- If you try to use any of the AUI presets in the plugin you will notice something very strange. The polyphony works but the presets does not. Some of the presets even have some strange looking random notes. I have no clue how to fix this. -- I have contacted the author of KeyMacro about this issue and will post any information I get. I have not been able to get my plugins to work on 10.7.5 so I have not been able to test what my VST plugins work on that version. I have also noticed that if you have multiple plugins installed in Ableton, then you can only run one plugin at a time. If you have another plugin open while you open KeyMacro, you will get a black screen and the plugin won't work. Does anyone know what this issue is and if it is a bug, or if it has something to do with VST plugins and multiple plugins? Also, is there a way to check if a plugin will work on a certain version of Ableton? Please take a look at the sound set-up inside the AUI, and try to use them. If you do have problems, let us know. The AUI is not a way to get around the issue, but a 1d6a3396d6

DSK BassZ is an all-in-one software for bass sound creation. It contains more than 24 instrument sounds. More information about DSK BassZ : Read more... Leave a Comment: About me Hi, my name is Bjorn, I am a freelance composer, DJ, producer, remixer and sound designer, I do not only compose music, I also sing and play various instruments. My freelance work includes various projects for film, TV, games, commercials and many more. I have worked with the biggest music companies in the world such as Sony, Universal, Warner Bros, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and a lot more. A few years ago I wrote two music games with the team behind the show Sonic

Boom, one of the games was officially published by Sega, this gave me the chance to connect to the Sonic creator and musician, Dr. Eggman himself. I had to do a remix of the iconic "Sonic Boom" theme song and I worked closely with him to make it the best I could. Besides that I have composed music for TV and games such as the famous black & white shooter The last of us. I worked with the famous video game composer and sound designer Chris Brown, where he gave me the chance to work on The Last of us, and to remix one of his works, and it was my chance to show his work to his fans. I did also have the chance to do a remix of another one of his works. In 2016 I was contacted by Massive Records about remixing an album called "Middle Eastern Funk: Top Bongo Beats". One of my songs was chosen to be used on the official music video for the song "Drunk Dancers". I had to produce it as a remix and did a mix with an electronic pop music sound. While I am a very happy freelance composer, I would be the biggest fan if you could share my work with your friends and family on social media. It would be the greatest way to share what I do with the world. Thanks for listening! Visit my website here. Follow me on Twitter. Or Facebook. And Instagram.
